The Mossy Forest of Gunung Brinchang is a moist tropical evergreen forest. It sits at the highest part of Cameron Highlands. At this height, low clouds cover the forest with moisture and mist. This creates an ideal environment for moss, ferns, and orchids to grow and for snakes, frogs, insects, birds, and mammals, which are adapted to the cool atmosphere, to live.

There is a wooden platform built through the forest for visitors to walk on as they explore the forest. Besides layers of moss on the mountain floor and tree trunks, there are orchids, pitcher plants, and vines hanging loosely from the tree tops and branches.

However, the Mossy Forest is now closed to visitors and will remain so till the middle of 2016. The closure will allow the authorities to clean up all the rubbish which had been left behind by visitors. Hi Nuraini,

How was Mother's Day? What did you do for your mother? As for me, my family and I had a special celebration yesterday..

My sisters and I cooked Mama's favourite dish, chicken soup. We found a splendid recipe from a website and decided to try it. It turned out to be delicious. Mama loved it very much. Papa and my brother, Hakim, purchased a tiramisu cake with a special note of love written on it.

A couple of days before the event, Papa brought us to the shopping mall to get Mama a gift. Although the others wanted to give her a branded leather handbag, I thought that a pink pearl necklace would be a more suitable gift for her. She could wear it with her new maroon baju kurung. I was outnumbered.

So, on that special day, we sat around Mama in the living room. Hakim presented her with a bouquet of roses and recited a poem that he had composed for her.
